Turman Commercial Painters Celebrates its 40th Anniversary

Livermore, CA (PRWEB) 10/10/2012 - Turman Commercial Painters, (www.turmaninc.com) a national commercial painting contractor headquartered in Livermore, CA, is celebrating its 40th anniversary in business.

This anniversary marks exceptional growth and accomplishment for the company as a whole. Since the company's inception in 1972 in Northern California, Turman now has offices in eight US locations and is capable of serving the entire nation. Furthermore, it expects to sizably reinforce its national footprint within the next 20 years. Turman, along with its affiliates Washington Commercial Painters and Oregon Commercial Painters, is the largest national commercial painting company under one owner.

The company landed its first large contract to paint the Cache Creek Casino in Brooks, CA and subsequently has done work for such companies as Microsoft, Oracle, Intel, Target, Starbucks, Wells Fargo, Morgan Stanley and McDonalds, to name a few. While the economy continues to struggle, Turman prides itself on its ability to adapt to change and thrive. Although founded solely as a painting company, it has expanded to include rebranding services, cool roof coatings, restorations, wall coverings, and some light industrial work.

Turman's core values include being relationship driven, doing the right thing, and staying focused on excellence. In keeping with these values, one of the company's keys to success includes a comprehensive safety program which is overseen by a safety committee that meets monthly to address continued employee training, certification, job site analysis as well as to evaluate all incidences. Another key to success is its investment in a full suite of technology that allows it to better communicate from office to office as well as with its clients. Its commitment to technology has enabled it to successfully organize and administrate its national rebranding projects.

Turman will celebrated this special occasion with all of its employees with a "virtual BBQ" earlier this summer. It has also marked the occasion with a 40 year timeline on its website. To find out more about Turman and view the 40 year timeline visit www.turmaninc.com
